Safety solutions and smart accessories: there's always more for your 4x4

BELT UP!

When you're hanging upside down, looking at your 'If you can read this, turn me over' sticker and thinking 'hey, that's not funny anymore', be thankful you have your seat belt on. You do wear one, don't you? There's no excuse not to; many 4x4 centres will refuse access to drivers refusing to belt up -- and rightly so.

A neat gadget for taking some of the discomfort out of your comfort zone has been brought to the UK by CG-Lock. It's a small widget, which takes a couple of minutes to clip onto the tongue of your vehicle's seat belt (the part you push into the buckle that the webbing passes through). It's engineered to lock your existing lap belt section of your seatbelt in position, keeping your body's centre of gravity planted firmly where it belongs. Once in place, you can pull up on the shoulder harness of your seatbelt... the lap belt portion tightens... firming up the section that sits across your lap.

If you think about it, this means that the base of your spine is held firmly against the back of your seat. You can keep your feet light on the pedals and your hands light on the wheel; you're not moving around to compensate for tilt and roll anymore.

The CG-Lock will fit almost any vehicle (there's a money back guarantee if you can't fit it for any reason) and, priced at £49.99, each one comes with a comprehensive guide to installation and safe use. Call 08701 245625, or visit www.cg-lock.co.uk to find out more.

is it for you?

Absolutely!

FINER LINERS

Aluminium... is sexy. OK, it might not be sexy in the usual sense, but it's very shiny, smooth and extremely hardwearing; particularly if it's been turned into a load liner by N&J Aluminium linings.

N&J manufacture Samson load liners from 3mm tread plate. It's the only way to safeguard the rear interior trim of a vehicle that you're going to use as nature intended... off-road, with tonnes of gear loaded in the back. Pick-ups, double-cabs, short or long wheelbase, these liners are made to fit all makes and models of 4x4. They come with aluminium locks -- not just to keep them safe from your mates, but also to make sure that they're fitted securely to your vehicle.

You can compliment your load liner with a snazzy stainless-steel roll bar, hard-wearing toolbox, sidesteps, rear bars, bull bars... in fact, if you want to fit your vehicle with an accessory that's top quality, made from shiny metal, hard wearing and competitively priced -- then you should probably give N&J a call. Their new Diamond Bright Aluminium load liner range is, well, just sexy!

You can contact N&J on 01200 429955 or alternatively check out their website www.njaluminiumlinings.co.uk to see their whole range.
